Moscow Claims Big Military Budget Slash

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin announced today a cut of 500 million rubles — $555 million — in the Soviet Union's military budget for 1965 and called on other major powers to follow suit.

Kosygin told the Supreme Soviet the Soviet Union's rubber-stamp parliament that the Soviet cut and an expected reduction of military spending in the United States "constitute a definite positive step toward reducing international tension."

He said the Soviet Union attaches great importance to the further reduction of the military budgets of the big nations.

The new Soviet premier said the military budget next year will total 1.8 billion rubles or 12.9 per cent of all government expenditures as against 14.5 per cent in 1964.

The military budget in 1964 totaled 13.3 billion rubles and was 600 million rubles less than 1963. Western officials contend that much Soviet defense spending is disguised under nonmilitary items in the budget and some Western military analysts believe total military spending this year is well over twice the budgeted figure.

The official value of the Soviet ruble is $1.11.

Kosygin spoke at the opening of the first Supreme Soviet session since the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev on Oct. 14.

Although still a member of the Supreme Soviet Khrushchev did not appear for the session.

Kosygin reaffirmed Soviet devotion to Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence and said: "We are in favor of the development of relations with the United States. There have been some developments in that field although they have not been great."

But he denounced the "aggression of the Americans and the Belgians in the Congo" and repeated Soviet pledges "to render the necessary assistance" to Communist North Viet Nam and to Cuba "if the aggressors dare to raise their hands against them."

He made no pledge of assistance to the Congolese rebels however.

He also called in general terms for cooperation among Communist countries but made no specific reference to Communist China.

Welfare Job Eliminated by Irked ALC

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legislative Council approved a proposal Tuesday to eliminate the job of Mrs. Ruth Johnston, director of the Child Welfare Division of the Welfare Department.

Perry County Rep. Perry Van Dalsem, who made the motion, said he only wanted to save money. He had been critical of Mrs. Johnston, however, at several earlier council sessions.

State Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs, who helped Van Dalsem eliminate Mrs. Johnston's position by amending the Welfare Department budget, said she had failed to cooperate with Welfare Commissioner Jim Phillips and county welfare agencies.

Last week Phillips did not defend Mrs. Johnston when he was questioned about her during his presentation of the commission budget. He said, however, that her job was covered by the Merit System and she was not subject to dismissal.

Mrs. Johnston had no comment Tuesday.

Van Dalsem's motion placed the Child Welfare Division under the director of family services, another Welfare Department office. He said last week there had been criticism of the division because it had interfered with some adoptions arranged at the county level.

$914 So Far in County Seal Drive

Hempstead County citizens have contributed a total of $914.20 to the local 1964 Christmas Seal campaign to date, more than the amount given by the county residents last year, it was announced by Mr. Dick Turnage, County Representative of the Arkansas Tuberculosis Association.

"The Christmas Seal campaign opened in November and the majority of the people in this area answered the call from the TB association immediately. However, a number of persons have not answered their Christmas Seal letters. We hope everyone will do so as soon as possible so that the work of the Tuberculosis Association will be able to continue here, said Turnage.

Mr. Turnage also said that over ninety per cent of the Christmas Seal dollar remains in Arkansas and is used for case detection, and research. There is a research program presently being conducted at the University of Arkansas Medical Center.

Burglary Attempt at Bauxite Bank

BAUXITE ARK. (AP) — State Police and local authorities were searching early today for two men who tried to burglarize the Post Office and the adjacent Bank of Bauxite here Tuesday night.

Togetheress Cult of the Moderns Make It Difficult to Tell the Sexes Apart

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — How can you tell the sexes apart?

They have become more and more alike, as the result of the modern cult of togetherness, the campaign for equal rights, and the present passion for conformity.

Recently I listed some remaining differences between the sexes that would enable a close student of the subject to tell one from the other. Since then a number of readers have sent in suggestions on other ways that the sexes are differentiated — although no one knows how long this will hold true.

Here are a few you may find helpful:

If it complains bitterly about its luck while winning in a poker game, it is a man. If it turns to itself when it is 25 cents ahead in a gin rummy game, it is a woman.

If it takes exercises to take off a pot belly, it is a middle-aged male. If it gives up desserts in order to remove weight from around the hips, it is a middle-aged female.

If it likes to burn steaks in the backyard until they turn to charcoal, it is a husband. If it

Cotton Picked Is 95 Per Cent

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas cotton crop is more than 95 per cent out of the fields although wet weather caused the harvest to lag, the Cotton Division Clipping Office here reported today.

E. R. McInnes, officer in charge of the office, said weather will be a major factor in determining how much and how soon the remainder of the crop will be harvested.

The office received last week slightly more than 12,000 cotton samples from Arkansas farmers. McInnes reported, bringing the total number of samples classed this season to about 860,000.

McInnes said the grades continue to be surprisingly high.

He noted, however, that the demand is down for recently-ginned Arkansas cotton and it is becoming more difficult each week to sell cotton.

The few buyers in the market are very selective, McInnes reported.

Rails Petition to Prevent a Strike Dec. 15

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's railroads have filed a petition in U.S. District Court seeking to prevent a scheduled strike 10 days before Christmas by three shop unions.

The unions representing some 53,000 workers called a walkout Tuesday for 6 a.m. Tuesday Dec. 15 after talks broke down in Washington over wages.

A strike would cripple 187 railroads and terminal and switching companies which handle more than 90 per cent of the nation's rail traffic a union spokesman said.

Judge Joseph Sam Perry scheduled a hearing today on the railroad petition filed late Tuesday.

The unions — electrical workers machinists and sheet metal workers — reinstated a strike call originally set for Nov. 23 but postponed for further negotiations.

Line Held on Budgets for Education

By JOHN R. STARR Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — College-oriented members of the Legislative Council fought an apparently successful holding action today against an expected slash in budgets for institutions of higher learning.

But the general tone of council discussions firmed up what became apparent Tuesday — that the institutions of higher learning will bear the main brunt of the council's effort to trim $8 million from state agency budgets requests to get them in line with anticipated revenue.

When the council turned to discussion of budgets for the university of Arkansas and state colleges today, it faced the task of cutting $5,360,226 from the $42,657,578 in general revenue budgets remaining to be considered.

Almost three-fifths of this $42 million is in the budget of the institutions of higher learning. The delay this morning came in a dispute over adoption of recommendations of the council education committee on salaries of administrative heads of the schools.

The committee met Tuesday afternoon and made some sizeable cuts in the salaries recommended by the commission on coordination of higher education finance.

The committee approved moderate raises for the administrative heads but the salaries approved were nowhere near those recommended.

Presidents of the smaller colleges, for example, asked for salary increases of $3,000 a year to a total of $16,000. The committee recommended $14,200.

The Commission on Coordination of Higher Education finance recommended a $26,000 salary for University of Arkansas President David Mullins and $25,000 for Coach Frank Broyles.

The committee cut this to $24,000 for Mullins and $23,000 for Broyles who recently signed a new six-year contract after leading the Razorbacks to a 10-0 season.

The council could not agree on anything involving the higher education budgets.

It defeated a motion to adopt the committee report, a motion to simply receive the report without adopting it, and a motion to defer action on the budgets until 10:30 a.m. Monday.

When it became apparent that the council was in no mood to act, Little River County Rep. Marion Crank suggested that the matter be dropped and the council move on to consideration of other budgets.

This was done.

The council lost its economy-mindedness when it turned to budgets for the state's two vocational schools.

It approved the executive recommendations of $294,800 a year for the Petit Jean Vocational School at Morrilton and $298,500 a year for the school at Pine Bluff.

Sen. Robert Harvey of Swift attempted to cut $17,600 from the Petit Jean budget but he was the only one who voted for his motion. He did not attempt to amend the Pine Bluff budget.

Summit Meet Today of GOP Leadership

By WALTER MEARS

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater is ready to tell a Republican summit conference today he thinks the struggle over GOP leadership is tearing the beaten party apart.

That was the word from a source close to the defeated Republican presidential nominee as Goldwater prepared to talk politics with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Precise arrangements for the New York conference were cloudy. There was no word as to exactly when or where the meeting would be held. An Eisenhower aide said the three would meet in the afternoon, but that details had not been worked out.

"There is no agenda," said Republican National Chairman Dean Burch. He is here to attend at least part of the discussions that will bring together the three men who have carried the Republican colors in the last four presidential elections.

"This is a very informal conference," Burch said.

The embattled party chairman, hand-picked by Goldwater, said he does not expect the Arizona senator will specifically ask Eisenhower and Nixon to back Burch's continued service as GOP chairman.

The land is owned by the heirs of C. A. Andrews Sr. and is part of the old Andrews plantation.

Damage Ruling Is Appealed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Highway Department appealed to the state Supreme Court Tuesday a judgment requiring the department to pay for a dead cow and crop damages.

Last May a Pulaski County Circuit Court jury awarded Max Lasley who rented a farm in 1960, $7,328 in damages against the agency. Lasley contended that highway crews tore down a fence and his cattle got into his wheat and soybean crops. His suit said one cow died as a result.

The Highway Department disputed the claim and contended that the agency a part of state government cannot be sued. Lasley also filed a claim for damages with the state Claim Commission. The claim has been deferred pending the outcome of the civil litigation.

Legislators Get Governor's Plea for Road Bonds; Idea Getting Cold Reception

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus today released copies of the material he is mailing to legislators and others seeking support for his $150 million road building program.

The material is a 14-page letter. In it Faubus does not say that he is committed to a $150 million bond issue but he declares that a bond issue is "one sound and feasible approach" to the problem.

The governor then discussed at length the "wide use" of credit by the state and he notes that cities and counties have used credit extensively to finance industry.

"It will be well for us to consider unalterable and unchanging fact," the governor said. "No governor, no highway commission, no county judge, no mayor or official of the government in either the state or the local level can heed your pleas (for roads) no matter how intense unless there are available funds with which to pay the cost."

"We have to face the facts and make the decision on what our course will be. If we are unwilling to do this then the problem will continue."

"The problem in its most simplified form might be expressed: Do we want these improvements now and use them while we are still living with them or do we want to wait some 30 years to see all of the improvements accomplished?"

Faubus' complete proposal involves a one-cent increase in the gasoline tax to finance the bond issue. The bond money would be divided with $90 million allocated for improvement of state secondary roads $30 million for county road construction and $30 million for city streets. The county and city money will have to be matched at the local level.

Among state projects, which the governor said are needed are:

Rebuilding Arkansas 39 from Jonesboro to Augusta bridges across the White River at Calico Rock, Des Arc and St. Charles a bridge across the Arkansas River southeast of Pine Bluff the Pine Bluff expressway and by-passes at Fayetteville, Jonesboro and other cities.

Faubus said that almost every other state has used its credit to provide and adequate highway system when it was needed.

He said Ohio recently voted a $500 million bond issue and that Alabama and West Virginia had voted $200 million in bonds each for highway improvements.

Faubus said that a gasoline tax increase without a bond issue could finance a modestly accelerated construction program on state roads but would provide no additional help for the counties and cities.

He said the pay-as-you-go program would take at least 20 years while the bond issue could be complete in six years.

"Which of you are willing to wait 20 years for the needed highway improvements?" he asks. "At the same time the overall growth and progress of the state will be retarded by the lack of improved transportation facilities.

U.S., Britain Agree on NATO Nuclear Plan

By JOHN M. HIGHOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today his talks with President Johnson have been completely successful in setting objectives for the formation of a nuclear weapons force in NATO and laying guidelines for Allied consultation.

Wilson also declared at a news conference winding up his Washington conferences that "we are prepared to go forward with all proposals," including a U.S. plan for an Allied jointly owned and mixed-manned nuclear surface fleet.

West Germany would be a central member of this force, Wilson expressed hope that the French government of President Charles de Gaulle will be interested in the new broadened approach to the nuclear weapons problem in NATO which has been worked out here.

Wilson declined to be drawn into a detailed discussion of the proposals which he made to Johnson saying he will deal with them and with his policy toward the U.S. multilateral force plan in a speech in the House of Commons next week.

He would not say at this time whether Britain would be willing to be an active member of the mixed-manned force or would help pay for it.

Britain's primary interest, however, is in getting creation of the nuclear force to which the British would assign their bomber and prospective nuclear submarine units, with Allied.

The Republican National Committee meets in Chicago Jan. 22-23 to decide whether Burch will retain his post.

A source close to Goldwater said the Republican nominee who lost in a landslide to President Johnson, wanted to talk with Eisenhower and Nixon about the struggle now going on within the party.

The source said Goldwater would explain his views on the battle which pits his conservative followers against GOP moderates.

"He will explain that as far as he is concerned, this is tearing the party up," the source said.

Eisenhower met twice with Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania at Gettysburg, Pa., Tuesday. The talks were described as social with "no political significance."

Rep. Robert Taft Jr. of Ohio said in a telephone interview he is not interested in becoming party chairman. He brushed aside as "rumors" reports that some Republicans are rallying behind him as a replacement for Burch.

Taft called for a reorganization of party machinery and said he thinks differences between Republicans have been exaggerated.

sharing of the costs as well as the strategic control.

In two days of conferences ended Tuesday night, Wilson and Johnson agreed that the United States and Britain will start urgent consultations with other nations this week aimed at working out the broadened NATO nuclear program in more concrete detail.

The two leaders reportedly stopped short of trying to agree on a formula embracing the new, broader approach, but officials said they had reached accord on the general guidelines to be followed in the consultations.

A communique, released at the White House, bore out the evidence of accord on next steps, saying:

"They agreed that the objective in this field is to cooperate in finding the arrangements which best meet the legitimate interests of all members of the alliance, while maintaining existing safeguards on the use of nuclear weapons, and preventing their further proliferation."

Wilson scheduled a mid-morning news conference at the British Embassy, and it was expected that he would provide further information on the results of his sessions with Johnson.

Johnson was to meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in late afternoon, and this meeting offered the President an opportunity to inform the Soviet government that, in his view, the prospective NATO nuclear organization will be a barrier to the spreading of nuclear weapons. The Russians claim that such an organization would place nuclear weapons in West German hands.

Officials said the Allied consultations would begin later this week, when West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder visits London to talk with Wilson and his foreign secretary, Patrick Gordon Walker, about the results of their discussions with Johnson.

The consultations will also be started promptly in other Allied Capitals, and it was understood that France would be invited to participate in these talks, though the position of the De Gaulle government is one of adamant opposition to U.S. plans in the NATO nuclear field.

U.S. officials said Johnson and Wilson agreed, when they first met Monday, that they would not make hard decisions on proposals for an expanded nuclear force, even assuming they found themselves in general accord. The reason, officials said, is that they did not want to make any deal here that would possibly prejudice the interests of any other Allied country.

The communique gave no details of the possible new approach, saying only that Johnson and Wilson discussed "existing proposals," and an outline "of some new proposals presented by the British government."

The reference to existing proposals obviously covered the U.S.-sponsored plan, to which the British have objected, for formation of a jointly owned and jointly manned surface fleet of 25 vessels armed with Polaris nuclear missiles.

The new British proposals are reported to take the line that what is needed is a reorganization of NATO, providing for a high-level strategy and targeting council for nuclear weapons control, and for a nuclear force including British units which would be committed to NATO, but manned by British nationals. Costs would be shared among the NATO allies.

Wilson's position on the U.S. joint fleet proposal was authoritatively described as "open." This indicated that, even though he had recently criticized the plan severely, he might be willing at a later stage to accept it as part of the package, in some revised form.

Johnson's reaction to the British proposals for a broadened approach to the whole problem was summed up by U.S. officials, who said he found it "interesting." He thus appeared to preserve his bargaining position for the future.

A White House spokesman described the Wilson-Johnson talks as being only a beginning of a new attack on the problem.

Same Cotton Program Is Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP)—A majority of the members of the Agriculture Department's Advisory Committee on Cotton believe that the present cotton program should be extended by Congress for additional years, the committee said Tuesday.

The committee did not specify how many years.

The two-year program was enacted by Congress in April 1964 and extends through July 1966.

Under this one-price program, U.S. textile mills pay the same price for raw cotton as paid by foreign buyers. Foreign mills, because of a U.S. export subsidy, had been able to buy their cotton for less than U.S. mills.

The committee said in a statement that the large supply of cotton now on hand was recognized as the No. 1 cotton problem. It said committee discussion during a two-day meeting which ended Tuesday centered on various actions which might be taken. Among the actions discussed were stepping up domestic consumption and exports of cotton, and ways to encourage wider participation in the domestic allotment program.

The committee agreed that the cotton situation has improved under the current legislation. But it said record high yields per acre this year resulted in an unexpectedly large crop, and exports are expected to be somewhat less than last year.

Domestic consumption of cotton, the committee said, is expected to be at least one million bales higher than in 1963-64, and that reductions in the prices of cotton items to consumers are now in evidence. It said this price trend is expected to become widespread in the months ahead.

of us to have a full measure of enjoyment in the approaching holidays without relaxing our proper decorum in public buildings," the letter said.

Rails Petition

The railroads alleged in the petition that the strike deadline with the three unions rather is an illegal attempt to compel the railroads to bargain directly with the three unions rather than with the AFL-CIO Railway Employees Department which had been authorized to bargain for them.

The carriers sought a temporary restraining order to prevent a strike picketing or other types of interference with the movement of trains. The petition also sought a permanent injunction.

The railroads charged that a nationwide work stoppage would cost them a daily loss in operating revenues of $267,500.

The petition called the demands for the three unions "wholly inconsistent with the recommendations of the President's Emergency Board."

A presidential emergency board had recommended a wage increase of 27 cents an hour over three years.

The petition accused the three unions of subverting their members by asking for bigger wage hikes than the Railway Employees Department had asked.

The petition named as defendants the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and two of its officers; the International Association of Machinists and two of its officers; and the Sheet Metal Workers' International Association and three of its officers; and all members of the three unions.

Joseph W. Ramsey general vice president of the International Association of Machinists said the union would contest the petition but declined to elaborate.

Six shop unions were involved in the Nov. 23 strike call but the three which represent boilermakers and blacksmiths carmen and the firemen and oilers reached agreements before the deadline.

The agreements followed closely the recommendations of the presidential emergency board.

The three unions still bargaining postponed the Nov. 23 strike at the request of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. They went from Chicago to Washington to confer with Wirtz and continue negotiations with the carriers.

The railroads have settled with 8 of their 11 principal nonoperating unions and all 5 operating unions within the emergency's boards recommendations. The carriers have refused to go beyond the pattern with the three shop unions.

The unions contend their members possess certain skills which entitle them to a larger pay boost. They contend they are underpaid in relation to comparable jobs in industry.

Ramsey said the three unions now average $2.74 per hour.

"DEAR ABBY"

YOU'RE OUT

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I am a divorcee, 29, with two children and am considered attractive. About a year ago I spotted an eligible bachelor in town, so I moved into his apartment building hoping to make his acquaintance. I made his acquaintance all right, but that's about all. He says hello pleasantly when we meet in the hall, but I've never been able to get him into my apartment. I telephoned him one evening to tell him my bedroom window was stuck (it really was so he sent a janitor up with a hammer. He's not going with anybody special and he's not a goody-goody because I've seen him entertain women in his apartment. None of them is as attractive as I. How can I get him interested without having

Pierce and baby girl, Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henson announce the arrival of a baby girl, born Tuesday, December 8.

GETTING NOWHERE

Dear Abby: It's not easy to chase a man without having it "look like" you're doing what you're doing. Face it. He's not interested in you. And any more moves in his direction will make your scheming so obvious that he's apt to hide when he sees you coming.

Dear Abby: I was one of nine children in a very poor family so I had to quit school in the 6th grade. I always wanted to get a better education but I never had the chance. I feel so bad when my 8th grade son asks me to help him with his homework and I am too dumb to help him. My husband can't help him either, as he never got through the 7th grade himself. I asked around and found out there is a night school for grownups. I could go four nights a week from 6 to 8. My husband laughed at me and said he never heard of a 32-year-old woman an going back to school. My heart is broken. Please tell me what to do.

WANTS TO LEARN

Dear Abby: Your husband should quit laughing long enough to learn a few things. Adult education has been a lifesaver to many who have decided to complete their educations in their 40's, 50's, and 60's. You are to be commended.

Dear Abby: I live in a very nosy neighborhood. Yesterday, the woman next door ran to her window the minute she heard a car pull up in front of my house. I saw her peeking through her Venetian blinds. And she saw me, too. Then she called me on the phone and said, "I didn't mean to be nosy. I just wanted to see who it was, and by the way, I didn't recognize him. Who WAS he?" Another neighbor stopped me in front of my house and said she had heard I was collecting Social Security and she was curious to know if I got it by the month or by the week and how much was it. I have always minded my

Cubans Deny Any Political Row

HAVANA (AP) — Sources high in Fidel Castro's government say that Augustin Martinez Sanchez who shot himself after he was removed as labor minister was ousted "entirely for administrative reasons." They denied there were any political implications.

Martinez shot himself in the head Tuesday after learning he had been fired. He was reported in critical condition in a Havana hospital.

The official sources said Castro is determined to get rid of all "dead wood" in his government in order to revive the Cuban economy. Martinez was the third Cabinet minister to be removed this year.

(Official circles in Washington saw the removal of the third Cuban Cabinet member this year as a sign of a critical power struggle within Castro's Communist regime. They said the struggle has been under way for many months but that it is too early to evaluate its seriousness.

own business and have never seen the equal of such nerve. I am not able to cope with it. What do you suggest?

FLABBERGASTED: Dear Abby: Go on minding your own business and ignore those who insist on helping you do it.

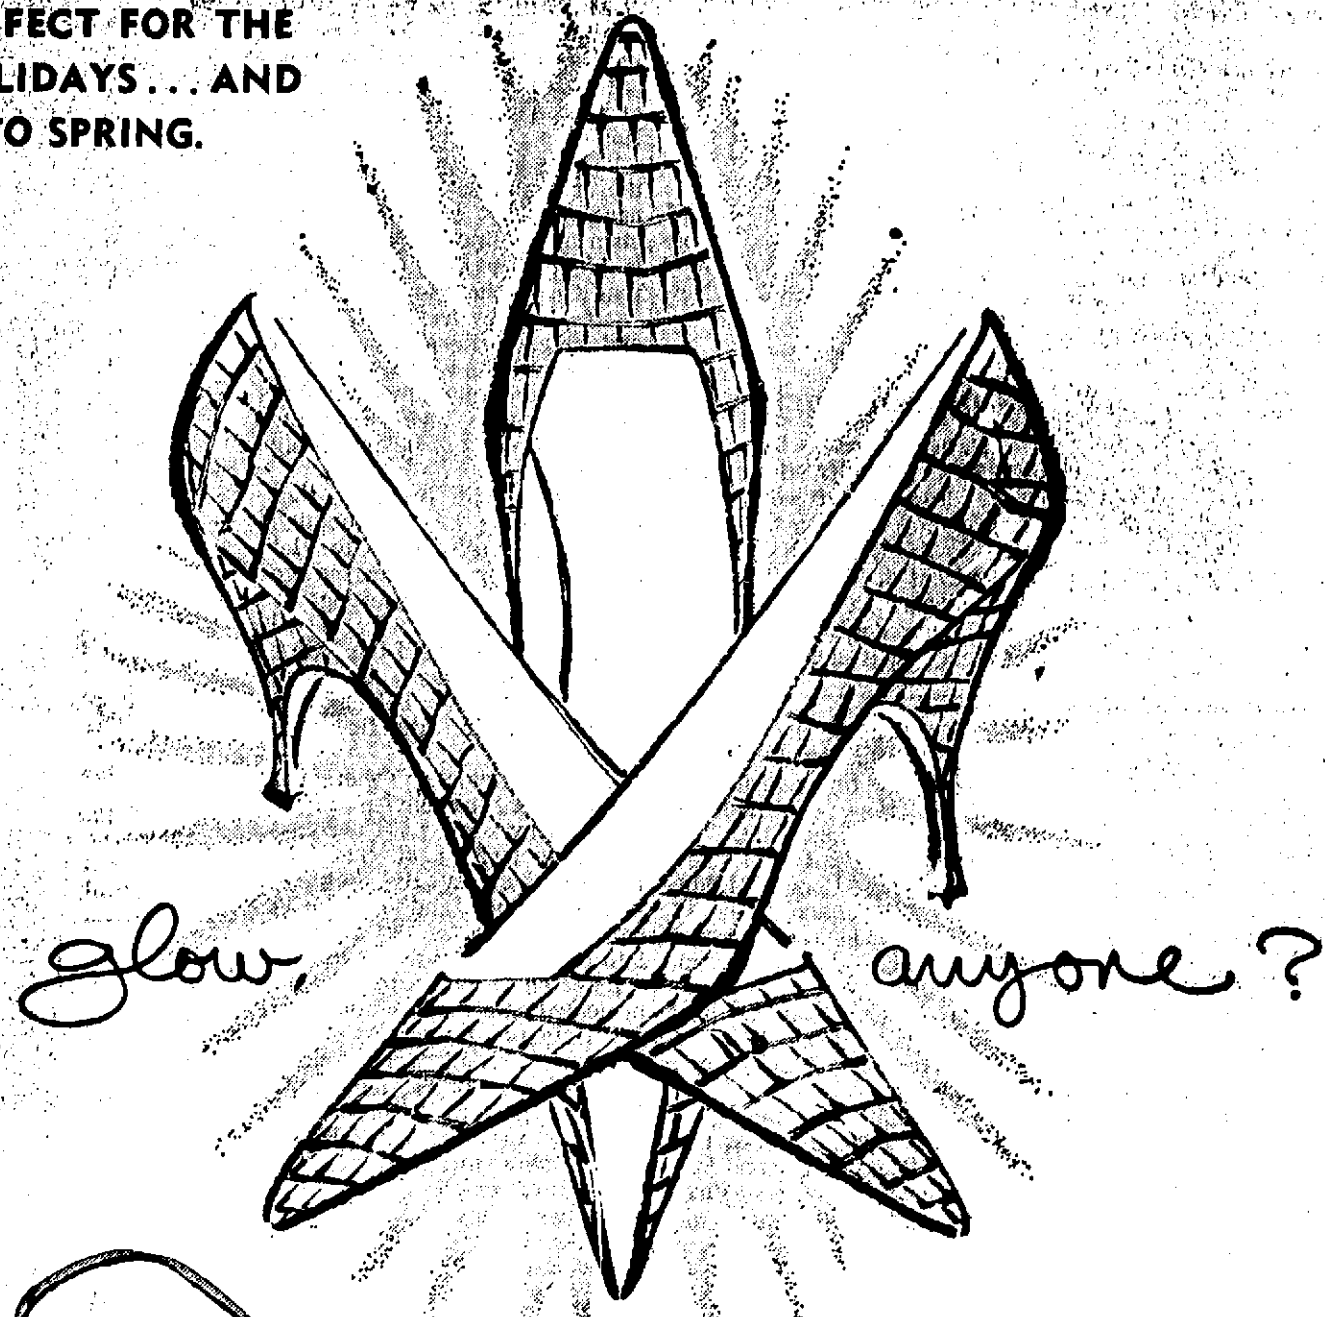

Dear Abby: How can my husband and I invite friends for dinner, but factually ask them not to bring their children? Abby, we love children, and have three of our own, but we never drag them along to the homes of friends when we are invited for dinner. Would it be rude if I said specifically please to leave their children at home?

MRS. H. IN ONTARIO: Dear Mrs. H.: If you don't want people who "bring their children," don't invite people who "bring their children."

Bobcats Cruise to Easy Win Over Gurdon

By CARTER HARDAGE
Hope Star Sports Writer

The Bobcats took a quick lead in the first quarter last night, and then cruised to a 61-44 win over Gurdon in Jones Field House.

All five Hope High teams took to courts last night, and all managed to come out victorious except the hapless "B" Boys, who were butchered rather thoroughly 79-31 by the Blevins Soulers.

The Cats made up for a disadvantage at rebounding by a tenacious and aggressive man-to-man defense that held the Go-Devs to only one field goal in the first period of play. They paid the price, however. The starting five had a total of nineteen defensive fouls called on them. Archer fouled out before the half.

It was never much of a battle though toward the end of the game you wouldn't have believed it. After the second period began, Gurdon was never anywhere near a threat.

Although not cleaning up on the boards, the Bobcats really pulled a big gun last night, with three men scoring in the double figures.

Dennis Ramsey led the locals with 15 points. Buddy Jordan had 14, Jerry Burnett 13, Mike Archer 8, Ronnie Ingram 5, and Andy High, Jim Johnson, and Stan Parris 2 apiece.

The "B" team was treated roughly at Blevins. Blevins shot from the field eighty-nine times and connected on almost half of them.

Bobby McGill led the losers with 11 points. Eddie Aslin had 8, Gene Thompson 7, Larry Don Wright 3, and Mike Westbrook 2, through in a big way to take

Calls for End to De-emphasis in Football

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Donald B. Lourie, a one-time Princeton All-American and chairman of the board of Quaker Oats, called for an end to de-emphasis of college football Tuesday night.

"Too often we hear from the Foundation and Hall of Fame's Gold Medal award.

Lourie said in his acceptance critics of the game that there is too much emphasis of football."

Lourie said in his acceptance speech at the $50-a-plate affair at New York's Waldorf Astoria Hotel.

"These people, somewhat like the critics of so-called big business, usually base their criticism on the fact that the game is big rather than on the fact that it is getting more popular."

"If here is overemphasis — and I don't believe there is — it is on the dollars needed to pay for new stadiums, to foot the bill for other sports, and to meet the increasing costs of fielding a big squad."

"I will admit, however, that these reasons have stimulated ambitious authorities to let down the bars and encourage over-recruiting." Recruiting is perfectly legitimate if carried out under the rules of the NCAA and the conferences to which these institutions belong and operate their athletic programs."

Lourie's address was the highlight of the lavish affair attended by some 1,500 persons, including leaders of business, finance, industry, the military and government and at which 10 new members were inducted into the Hall of Fame.

Inducted into the Hall projected as a modern structure at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J., were coach Earl (Red) Blaik and nine former players (three deceased), bringing the Hall's membership up to 51 coaches and 172 players.

Former players still living who were inducted were Charles Oliver Carroll, Washington half-back, 1926-28; Robert J. 4 Top Teams Still Have Clean Records

Just as they did on the grid-iron this year under new coach Ara Parseghian, the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame are on the comeback trail in college basketball under new coach Johnny Dee.

Dee's boys made it three straight victories against no defeats by downing Michigan State 100-93 Tuesday night. The Spartans, down by 11 points at halftime, rallied to lead at 65-61, but the Irish were equal to the occasion.

They tied the score at 72-72 then went ahead for good on two free throws by Walt Sahn. Don Reed led the Irish with 30 points on 12 field goals and six free throws.

All three of Notre Dame's victories have come at home. After another home game Thursday against Detroit the acid test will come for the Irish. They will play five straight road games starting Saturday at Evansville.

Four teams in this week's Top Ten won Tuesday night and kept their records clean. Third-ranked Vanderbilt beat Western Kentucky 94-79; San Francisco, No. 5, whipped San Francisco State 93-72; Minnesota, No. 6, downed Marquette 78-59, and St. John's of New York, No. 10, edged Holy Cross 77-74.

The Commodores, Dons and Gophers won on their home courts while the St. John's Red-men survived their first road test. Holy Cross put on a spectacular rally on John Wendelken's shooting in the second half after trailing by 20 points at 69-49.

Three free throws by Jerry Houston in the last 36 seconds provided the winning margin after the Crusaders had pulled to within 74-72. Houston then made the first of his three foul

The second game saw the Laneburg Sr. boys win over the Prescott Sr. boys by a score of 73 to 46. High scorer for Laneburg was B. Loe with 21 points, while R. Jones had 14. High scorer for Prescott was B. Oliver with 11 points, while T. Hooks and H. Lavender had 7 points each.

Cowboys and Giants Sign Up Speedsters

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Dallas Cowboys and New York Giants, destined to finish far up the track in this year's National Football League race, should have speed to burn in 1965.

Sprinters Bob Hayes and Henry Carr, double gold medal winners at the Tokyo Olympic Games, signed contracts Tuesday with the Cowboys and Giants, respectively.

The NFL clubs, running sixth and seventh in the Eastern Division with one game remaining, outbid American League rivals for the speedsters, who hope to make the grade as flanker backs or defensive secondary men.

Hayes, who played his football at Florida A&M, was a future choice of both Dallas and Denver of the AFL in the 1963 draft. Carr, of Arizona State University, was a future pick of the Giants and Kansas City of the AFL in last month's pro draw.

Hayes, 21, played flanker, running back and safety for the Rattlers while handling the punting and place-kicking duties. The 5-foot-10, 186-pound flash holds world's records in the 100-yard dash, 9.1, and 100-meter event, 10.0. He won the 100 meters at Tokyo and anchored the winning U.S. 400-meter relay team.

Carr, 6-3, and 195 pounds, played one season at Arizona State, missed the next year because of injuries and passed up the 1964 campaign for the Olympics, where he captured the 200-meter sprint and anchored the American foursome that won the 1,600-meter relay.

NFL clubs added six other collegians to their list of signees Tuesday.

Western Kentucky linebacker Dale Lindsey, Grambling defensive back Mike Howell and Louisiana Tech punter Dave Lee signed with Cleveland; Penn State fullback Tom Urban

Pro Statistcists Favor the Colts

NEW YORK (AP) — The total offense figures in the National Football League are an accurate reflection of the team standings. Baltimore is first with 4,421 yards. Then comes Cleveland with 4,079 yards, followed by St. Louis with 4,052 yards.

The Colts already have clinched the Western Conference title and Cleveland leads St. Louis by one-half game going into the final round in the Eastern Conference.

If defense is the real story of pro football, it doesn't show up in the standings. Green Bay is way out front in total defense, having allowed almost 600 yards less than Dallas, the second-place team. Cleveland is far down at the bottom of the heap in 14th place in total defense.

Saratoga in Split, Emmet Drops Three

In area basketball games Tuesday night Saratoga defeated Mineral Springs 49 to 41 with Wolf tossing in 17 points. D. Horn made 15 for the losers.

In the second game at Saratoga the host Senior Girls were edged by Mineral Springs 34 to 33 in a thriller. Armandia Arnold made 14 for Saratoga and Brenda Nutt had 16 for Mineral Springs.

At Garland City the Emmet Senior Boys were defeated 62 to 45. West led the winners with 14 while J. Faulkner of Emmet was high with 17 and R. Dougan made 143.

In the Senior Girls game Stewart of Garland hit 42 to pace her team to a 56 to 40 win over Emmet. Jean Dougan made 27 ik agreed to terms with Washington. San Jose end Dave Johnson signed with Baltimore and Grambling guard Woodrow People, with Minnesota.

Howell and Urbanik were also picked by AFL teams.

The AFL came up with three plums, Buffalo signing Notre Dame center Norm Nicola, Virginia State halfback Lynwood Hart and Boston U. tackle John Henry.

Take Wilt Chamberlain away from the San Francisco Warriors; separate Elgin Baylor from the Los Angeles Lakers — and watch the sunshine desert California's National Basketball Association standard-bearers.

With Chamberlain sidelined while a broken nose mends and Baylor resting a muscle pull Tuesday night, the short-handed West Coast clubs were no match for the visiting St. Louis Hawks and Boston Celtics. The Hawks, paced by Zelmo Beaty and Bob Pettit, whipped the Warriors 113-92 and the Celtics trimmed the Lakers 108-98 behind the scoring and rebounding of Bill Russell.

In a doubleheader at New York, meanwhile, player-coach Dave DeBusschere led a Detroit Pistons' comeback that nipped the Philadelphia 76ers swept from behind and topped the Baltimore Bullets 102-97, for their eighth victory in 12 games.

The Warriors, who also missed injured forward Wayne Hightower, fell behind 37-18 at the start of the second quarter and never threatened. Beaty, with 24 points, and Pettit, with 22, swept the backboards and the Hawks finally cleared their bench in the final period. Nate Thurmond was high for San Francisco with 32 points.

Russell netted 24 points and 23 rebounds, running his career rebound total past the 14,000 mark, as the Celtics outscored Los Angeles 15-2 during a three-minute stretch in the third quarter and breezed home. Boston's John Havlicek scored 25 points while Jerry West, hitting on 15 of 24 shots from the floor, led the Lakers with 34.

Baylor, who pulled a muscle in his left leg last Wednesday and aggravated the injury last Sunday, may miss five or six games.

points for Emmet.

Garland made it a clean sweep with the Junior Boys winning over Emmet 58 to 28. Murphy scored 29 points while Emmets David Dougan tallied 21 times.

It stopped all five of us. I thin I spotted him first, but the four men weren't far behind. Larry Porter was standing about 20 feet away, a gun in his hand.

"Sorry," he said. "I meant to get the one that kicked you. But I've always been a lousy shot."

The four men suddenly acted as though controlled by a single button. The two who were on the street leaped upright and the four of them started running—one of them limping considerably.

"Stop!" Larry shouted. The only result was that they ran faster. He turned to me and shrugged. "I've never been able to shoot anyone in the back," he said. "Do you suppose it'll cause me to lose my franking privilege?"

I laughed and the effort almost doubled me as the pain struck. "I don't think, I said as soon as I could get my breath, 'you have one.'

"Oh well," he said. "I think we'd better get you to a doctor."

We both looked around. My taxi was gone. The driver must have taken off as soon as the ruckus started. But another one cruised by and Larry hailed it. "Drive us to the nearest doctor," he said. There was the wail of a police siren a few blocks off as we pulled away.

"The cops after you?" the driver asked.

"No," Larry said crisply. He took out his wallet and held it where the driver could see it. "They're after the other people. Now just get us to a doctor."

He turned to look at me. "Are you all right?"

"It only hurts when I laugh," I said.

"It occurred to me that something might go wrong," he said. "So I came down and hung around just in case it did."

The taxi pulled to the curb. "There's a doctor in there," he said gesturing.

Larry paid him and helped me up the steps. We rang a bell and after a minute the door opened. A man looked at us.

"Sorry to bother you Doctor," Larry said "but my friend was attacked by some street hoodlums and needs some attention."

A moment later he'd finished examining me. "Well," he said. "You're going to have a black eye tomorrow. Not much I can do about that. You have some fractured ribs. About three. We can tell exactly if you want me to X-ray. But you'll get the same treatment," I said.

He put three broad strips of adhesive around my chest pulling them as tightly as he could. Then he put another strip diagonally across them. "That ought to do it," he said.

My ribs still hurt but they did feel better with the tape on them. I slipped into my shirt and put on my coat. The doctor was busy writing on a prescription pad. "I'm giving you a few codeine tablets for pain and a prescription which you can fill tomorrow." He turned and came back to me handing me a small pack of pills and the prescription.

"You can try cold compresses on the black eye," he said. He looked up directly into my eyes. "You said you were attacked on the street. You know I'll have to report this to the police?"

"It's all right Doctor," I said. I reached in and got my wallet flipping it open. "We don't mind."

He looked at the card and sighed with relief. "So that explains your gun," he said. "I was a little worried about it."

I gave him $10 and Larry and

Green Bay, Colts Place 5 on All Stars

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Baltimore and Green Bay each placed five men on the annual All-National Football League team selected today for The Associated Press.

The selections were made by a 42-man committee of three from each of the 14 league cities.

Quarterback Johnny Unitas of the Colts and fullback Jim Brown of Cleveland were near unanimous choices for the offensive team.

Johnny Morris, the Chicago Bears' record-breaking pass catcher, was an overwhelming choice for flanker back. Lenny Moore, Baltimore's big touch-down punch, scored decisively as the running back.

Frank Clarke of Dallas took over the split end job, won by the ailing Del Shofner of the New York Giants in the previous three years. Mike Ditka, the Bears' powerful tight end, was one of seven repeaters.

Dick Schafrath of Cleveland and Forrest Gregg of Green Bay again were the offensive tackles, although Gregg moved to guard in mid-season when Vince Lombardi shuffled his Packer line.

Jim Parker of Baltimore, a hardy perennial, was an all-star guard again, but Ken Gray of the St. Louis Cardinals took over the other guard job, held for two years by Green Bay's Jerry Kramer, who recently underwent surgery.

Mick Tingelhoff, signed by the Minnesota Vikings as a free agent in 1962, took over the first-string center job, beating out Jim Ringo of Philadelphia. The incumbent, Bob DeMarco of St. Louis and Mike Pyle of the Bears.

Green Bay put four men on the defensive unit, including I left.

"What now?" he asked when we were out on the street.

"I'm going to the hotel," I said. "The day is over as far as I'm concerned. But you can take the first cab."

"No you," he said. "You're the one who's wounded."

It was solved for us. Two empty cabs came along at the same time and we hailed both of them. I headed for the second one.

I opened the door and got in before he could answer. "Let the other cab pull away first," I told the driver "then take me to the Charcoal House."

He nodded. The other cab pulled out and my driver followed slowly. When the other cab turned off he speeded up. A few minutes later he let me out in front of the Charcoal House. I paid him and went in.

I took a seat at the bar and ordered a brandy. I decided my broken ribs deserved that much. While the bartender was bringing it I looked around the room. It was fairly crowded but I didn't see Jacki eHarris and Emery. I did see Blackie Ellis talking to someone at the end of the bar. I knew that he had seen me too. When my brandy came I sipped it and waited.

Science Lecture at School

A DEMONSTRATION LECTURE PROGRAM, titled "This Atomic World," will be presented in an assembly program at Hope High School on Dec. 14. The program, sponsored by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, is presented by the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, Oak Ridge, Tenn. The institute is a nonprofit, educational and research corporation of 40 Southern universities and colleges, operating under contract with the AEC. The traveling exhibits units, which visit hundreds of high schools throughout the United States each year, are designed to provide the public with a better understanding of atomic energy.

CURTIS A. WILLIAMS, AN EXHIBITS MANAGER who has received special training in nuclear science, will present the program. Mr. Williams holds a bachelor of science degree from Stephen F. Austin State College, Nacogdoches, Texas.

LRU in Upset of Louisiana Tech

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock University Trojans missed only two shots in the first nine minutes and they held on for a 102-90 basketball upset of Louisiana Tech here Tuesday night.

The Trojans had a 24-8 lead after nine minutes, and Tech never got any closer until it scored the final eight points to narrow the margin to 12.

Bob Dodson led LRU with 20 Techs Jerry Hood got high points and John Coates had 19. Leon Barmore had 19 for the Louisianians.

Willie Davis at end, Henry Jordan at tackle, Ray Nitschke at middle linebacker and Willie Wood at safety. Gino Marchetti, veteran Baltimore end, who came out of retirement just before the season started, and Bob Boyd, a corner back, were the Colts' contribution to the defensive team.

Bob Lilly, Dallas giant who is regarded by many as the best lineman in the NFL, made the club at defensive tackle.

Joe Fortunato, the consistent Chicago Bears left linebacker, and Maxie Baughan, who had a fine year for the Philadelphia Eagles, were the corner linebackers.

The only rookie to make the first team was Paul Krause, Washington's fine safety from Iowa whose 12 interceptions lead the league. Pat Fischer, at 5-foot-9 the smallest man to play regularly, won the other corner back job on his great season as a pass interceptor and defender for the Cardinals.

SMU Suffers 3rd Straight Cage Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Southern Methodist took its third straight licking Tuesday night and it made the Southwest Conference's inter-sectional record less than mediocre.

Tulsa won its second game in a row by beating the Methodists 69-50. SMU had a very poor 28.3 per cent shooting average.

Texas A&M rolled over Sam Houston State 75-58 to climb into second place in the season standings with 3-1. Baylor leads with 3-0.

There's only one game in the conference tonight with Arkansas and Oklahoma State clashing at Stillwater in an inter-sectional test.

Southern Methodist, showing better defense, made it a tight ball game with Tulsa for a half, leading 29-27 at intermission.

But the Methodists couldn't hit from the floor and faltered on the free throw line. The Hurricanes ran their lead to 13 points with three minutes left to play and SMU was through.

Sam Houston State gave the Aggies a battle and was only six points behind with 2:55 left. Then the Aggies poured in 15 points to move rapidly away.

John Beasley led the Aggie foray with 25 points. Gary Cornelson had 24 to head Sam Houston.

Telephones first were installed in the White House in December of 1878.

'Minor' Defects Have Major Effect, Declares March of Dimes Doctor

Big ears and misshapen noses have long been treated as amusing targets of low comedy. Often the people behind the defective features join in the laughter more heartily than anyone else.

Now doctors wonder if it's such a laughing matter. "Doctors are beginning to suspect that many so-called minor defects may be as crippling to emotional and mental development as a gross deformity is to physical growth," says Dr. Virginia Appgar, director of the division of congenital malformations of The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

"In the 50 March of Dimes birth defects centers that have been opened across the nation in the last several years, we have seen an increasing number of these problems."

As an example, Dr. Appgar described a little Nebraska girl born with an ugly mass of hair extending from right shoulder to forearm. The rare defect—actually a huge birthmark—didn't prevent normal use of the arm. But it was so disfiguring that it aroused other children's taunts. By the age of four, the pretty child had withdrawn into a shell, worrying her parents and inciting her six-year-old brother to fight youngsters who poked fun at his "hairy" sister.

According to the child's parents, no one gave them any hope of improving their daughter's appearance until they took her to the March of Dimes Birth Defects Center at Children's Memorial Hospital in Omaha. Plastic surgeons removed the hairy surface and replaced it with skin grafts. Physicians believe that by the time the girl reaches high school, she'll scarcely remember which arm showed the upsetting quirk of nature.

In the vanguard of medical researchers studying deformity and accompanying psychological problems is a group at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore. Dr. Milton Edgerton, professor of plastic surgery there, says studies show that children with deformities, even minor ones, often feel "apart from the human race" early in life. He advocates correction of the deformity at an early age, where possible.

"We all know children or adults who have somehow learned outwardly to adapt to defects. We tend to think that there is no problem and to disregard the tremendous human aching to be like everyone else, at least to the degree of not feeling deformed," Dr. Edgerton says.

Dr. Eugene Meyer, associate professor of psychiatry and medicine at Johns Hopkins, is convinced that in 99 cases out of 100, a sense of deformity, however minor, stunts and cripples not only a child's self-esteem but his relationships with others.

The Baltimore group is concerned with prevailing attitudes of disdain and amusement toward what is popularly known as "cosmetic surgery." Jokes and sly references to "nose jobs" and other cosmetic surgery indicate an underlying feeling that such procedures are prompted by vanity.

In psychiatric terms, Dr. Meyer traces prejudiced attitudes to the Puritan idea that "the Lord made you this way and you shouldn't tamper with it."

"We've seen changes which are hard to believe in terms of people being freed from a sense of deformity for much greater interest in the various tasks of life," Dr. Meyer asserts. "The surgery doesn't put good spirit or productivity into a person, but it does remove blocks to its expression."

Tigers Knock Off State Teachers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ouachita knocked State Teachers from the ranks the unbeaten in Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball Tuesday night and Southern State took care of another unbeaten team to leave the Tigers on top of the AIC standings.

Ouachita with a 3-0 AIC mark topped ASTC 66-60 and Southern State upset Hendrix 74-63 for the Warriors first AIC loss.

In other AIC games Arkansas A&M beat Ozarks 70-63, Arkansas Tech dropped Arkansas College 71-60 and Henderson defeated Harding 73-72.

Ouachita went into a zone defense in the second half to stifle ASTC scoring. Leon Clements who scored 27 points and Bill Neal who scored 18 combined to pull in 33 of 37 Ouachita rebounds. Tom Davis led ASTC scoring with 22.

While Hendrix was losing its first AIC game Southern State was getting its first conference victory in three tries. Dannie Denton put in 21 points for the Muleriders and Kent Ritchie led Hendrix with 18.

Henderson's David Finch hit a 20-foot field goal with seven seconds left in the Reddies' triumph over Harding. Harding was ahead 68-61 with 3:31 remaining in the game. Gary Goss of Harding was the top scorer with 21 points.

Larry LeFevers pushed through 24 points and Tech teammate John Needham scored 23 in the Wonder Boys' victory over Arkansas College.

Arkansas A&M sunk nine free throws in the last three minutes to help the AG Aggies defeat Ozarks. The Mountaineers' Terrell Cookson got scoring honors with 24 points.

Oklahoma State Names 5 Porkers

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) - Oklahoma State University's football team named five Arkansas Razorbacks to its 22-man all-opponent team announced Tuesday.

Nebraska, Big Eight Conference champion set for a Cotton Bowl battle with Arkansas, Southwest Conference titlist, had four players on the team.

Razorbacks on the team were end Jerry Lamb and halfback Jim Lindsey, on offense; and tackle Loyd Phillips, linebacker Ronnie Cavness and halfback Ken Hatfield on the defensive team.

Davness was one of four unanimous choices on the Cow-boys all-opponent squad.

Mercenaries' Objectives Vary Widely

By ROBIN MANNOCK
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Some came for adventure and some for pay. Some came for a chance to serve the cause of a peaceful Africa, as they see it.

They are the men the world calls Premier Moise Tshombe's "white mercenaries" — several hundred volunteers spearheading Tshombe's drive against the Red-backed Congolese rebels.

What are they like? Take British Lt. Jeremy Spencer, 25, a scion of a rich north of England family.

Pay meant next to nothing to him. Adventure did, and he died with a rebel bullet in his head as he sat in the front line in a deck chair, languidly directing the battle with a sword.

Grizzled and tattooed veterans of many wars, whose every second word is a curse, still go misty-eyed when they talk of him.

They miss the way this tall, slender Englishman gave orders in his aristocratic drawl. They miss, above all, his ice-cold nonchalance in the face of danger.

The last month of fighting their way 600 miles to Stanleyville, capital of the rebel "Congolese People's Republic," has thinned the mercenary ranks down to a lean, mean residue.

For almost every one of the 200 or so soldiers from South Africa or Rhodesia still in the Congo, a would-be mercenary fighter has been put aboard a southbound plane for home or has deserted without waiting for his pay.

"There were drunks, drug addicts, coffee shop cowboys, homosexuals and cowards," says Maj. Michael Hoare, the tough chief of Tshombe's English-speaking men.

There still are some unlovely specimens among his men — killers of unarmed civilians and looters.

"Let's face it," says Hoare. "If we had only hired angels, we'd have never got together the labor force needed for this sort of job."

Hoare, 44, a veteran of war behind the Japanese lines in Burma and in Tshombe's secessionist state of Katanga, has little more than his own personality to back up his orders. The Congolese army's disciplinary code is almost nonexistent.

Said Lt. John Peters, a former British paratrooper from Leeds: "If any of men answers back, I take him around the corner and use my fists."

Hoare's most trusted officers fought for Tshombe in his secessionist days. They formed the small nucleus who recruited the others through advertisements in South African and Rhodesian newspapers.

Men flocked to sign on for base pay of 150 pounds sterling — $364 — a month as volunteers. Officers and noncoms earn up to three times more. Mercenaries also are paid about $16 a day danger money when they are in battle.

Only half of their pay is in foreign currency sent to their banks at home. The rest is paid in Congolese francs which cannot be taken out of the country.

Each man is entitled to two weeks' paid home leave at the end of his six-month contract.

Each man also has a life insurance policy for $20,000 payable to his next of kin. Nearly 20 families of Hoare's men already have qualified.

Grocery Robbed of $1,200 Cash

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two Negro men robbed a grocery store owner of about $1,200 late Monday, Little Rock police said.

H. C. Beall, owner of Beall's Model Market (at 3500 E. Tenth) told police the men both pulled sawed-off shotguns, then made him lie on the floor of his store. One of the men got $300

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The one person who has never doubted that Connie Stevens would be a star is — Connie Stevens.

She has a way about her, a kind of sunny confidence that sweeps all doubt away. Listening to her, you are convinced that everything is going swimmingly, professionally and personally.

In plain fact, she is enjoying her best season. After a faltering start, her television show with George Burns, "Wendy and Me," seems to be in the safe column. This has left her tired but exhilarated.

"It's great that the show is going so well, especially since we had the toughest competition in television," she commented. (The ABC show faces Lucille Ball and Andy Williams). "Nobody is going to take Lucy off the air — I'll fight them if they try — and it's hard to beat the only weekly musical-variety show on TV. But one of the recent ratings showed we were ahead."

"It's fun to be carrying a show, but boy, is it work! I know now what Laurence Olivier meant when he said the most important factor for success as an actor was not talent but energy. They had to move my dressing room next door to the stage so I could save the walk."

Connie's cheerful attitude toward her work is in contrast to her years with "Hawaiian Eye." Then she was in frequent skirmish with the Warner Bros. brass.

"Now their approach is entirely different," she said. "When I go to ask to do the Perry Como show in April, the wheels start turning. They gave me a percentage of the series, which has never happened at Warners before, and all my outside salaries. That's no small concession, because I can earn 10 times my studio salary by doing a guest shot on another show."

On the personal side, she still seems honeymoony over her year-old marriage to actor Jim Stacy.

"We've adjusted to the fact that my career is a step ahead of his," she remarked. "But those things change. Jim is up for a television series of his own, and I hope he'll be getting the break he deserves."

Seiberling to Sell Tire Division

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Seiberling Rubber Co. said today it is negotiating to sell its tire division, which has been losing money for several years.

The prospective buyer has not been identified.

The company said its other divisions plastics, shoe products and automobile mats — would not be a part of the transaction.

Seiberling has a plant at Batesville, Ark., which makes shoe productions, tread rubber and vinyl car mats.

Vic Vinez, manager of the Batesville plant, said the Arkansas operation would not be affected by the sale.

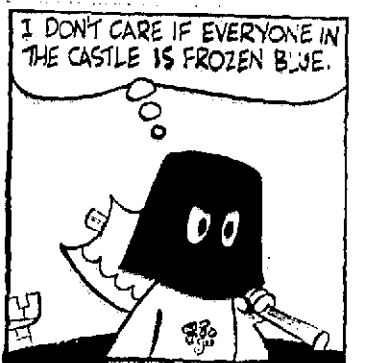

"We will continue to operate as we always have under the Seiberling name," Vinez said.

Harry P. Schrank, Seiberling president, said the sale would be for cash, enabling the development and expansion of remaining divisions and substantially reduce the company's debt.

"This appears to be in the best interests of the public, the employees, the distributors and the stockholders of Seiberling," Schrank's statement said.
